The Rocky Hock Anchor

The Mission of Rocky Hock Baptist Church is to magnify Christ and make disciples of all people.

Pastor's Corner

This will likely be my last newsletter article, so I want to take this opportunity to say goodbye. I want to express my gratitude for the opportunity to serve as the Pastor here at Rocky Hock over the past few years. I have loved the relationships I have been able to invest in and have delighted in sharing the Word with you. I want you to know that I will continue to pray for you, and you will always be in my heart. If you ever need someone to talk to, you can always call me. I guess what I am really trying to say is, though I will no longer be your Pastor, I will still continue to love and care about you for the rest of my life.

Grace and Peace!

Senior Pastor

"Don't Despise the Wind"

The Shaking Work Of God's Wind Amidst The Chaos And Storms Of Life

Genesis 8:1 – "And God remembered Noah, and every living thing, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark: and God made a wind to pass over the earth, and the waters assuaged;"

You can't see the wind… but, it's everywhere! It messes up your hair at the beach during family photos, it rattles the shutters during a storm, and it cools you down on a hot summer day. We grumble about it one moment, and we thank God for it the next! The wind is inescapable — it's woven right into the very fabric of our lives… and, even into our culture.

For example — turn the radio on, and you'll hear about somebody running "Against the Wind," or being "Dust in the Wind," or singing about how their loved one is the "Wind Beneath [Their] Wings." And, if you're watching a movie, you might even find yourself "Gone with the Wind." The wind is everywhere — especially in the Bible — as we'll discuss later on!

I think one of the "windiest" moments I've ever experienced came in the summer of 2021, as that first wave of COVID was finally coming to an end. Julianna and I had headed north to visit family, and one of our many stops was Niagara Falls.

Truth be told, until you reach the entrance, it looks like any other place. You don't know that you're approaching one of the wonders of the world. But, as we got closer, we began to hear it — that deep, rushing, thunderous sound. The nearer we drew, the louder and mistier it became.

Upon our arrival, we grabbed some ponchos, and boarded The Maid of the Mist — the ferry that takes you right up to the base of the falls. The wind was blowing like crazy. We looked like two loose blue tarps flapping on the back of a pickup truck, and the spray from the water drenched us completely. We couldn't even hear each other speak. It was pure chaos. But, right there, in the middle of the fog, and the roar, and the sweltering heat radiating off that metal deck… we saw one of the most breathtaking sights we'd ever witnessed. I'm so glad we didn't let our circumstances dictate our sight that day.

Looking back, I realize our experience might've been entirely different if we had allowed the wind, or the noise to distract us — we could have missed an awesome view! Sometimes, good things are happening even while the wind is blowing, and we can miss it, if we're not careful!

For example, look at Genesis 8:1, where God sends a great wind to dry up the earth after the flood (reference scripture above). By this point in the story, Noah and his family had been shut up the ark for months. The rain had stopped, but the ground was still covered. They were just waiting.

Surely, they must've longed for calm skies and solid ground. They probably thought the storm, at least, was behind them… but, then, out of nowhere — the wind started to blow again. The boat rocked. The waves stirred. Was it another storm? After all they'd endured, I'm sure it must've been pretty unsettling… some probably wondered if God had just totally forgotten about them.

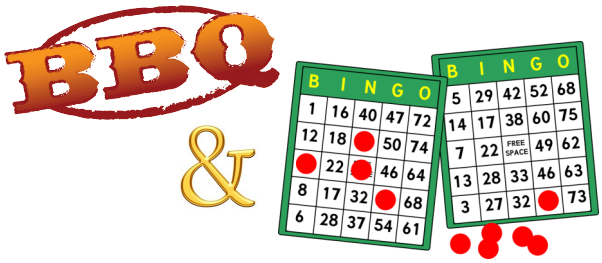

But, the Bible actually says that God sent the wind because He remembered them. He rocked their boat because He loved them! The wind wasn't punishment — it was actually a part of His plan all along. It was what He used to bring about their deliverance.

So, don't be dismayed if you find yourself in a windy season today — tossed about, and unsure of what's next. The very fact that God has allowed the wind to blow in your life means that He hasn't forgotten you. It's evidence that He's still working — moving, shifting, and preparing things for your good!

Remember… sometimes, God does His best work while the wind is blowing. So, don't despise the wind. Rejoice in it. And, let God do His thing!

The Gift of Life: Memorial Blood Drive for Chase Bateman

We never know when the need for blood will touch our own families. It's easy to think of it as something for "someone else," until it becomes personal — until it's for someone you love, someone you're afraid of losing.

This Memorial Blood Drive is held in loving memory of our son, Chase Bateman, who was able to live a little longer because of the generosity of blood donors after sustaining injuries in an ATV accident. Blood donation gave us more time, more moments, and more memories with him — an irreplaceable gift.

Please consider donating. Your gift may be the reason another family gets more time with the one they love. What you give matters!

How Our Loving Savior Taught Us to Pray

From wmu.com, Missions Mosaic
By Sarah Doss, Contributing Writer

Can you remember a time when praying with someone else had a positive influence on you? Maybe it was a grandparent or parent, a hero of the faith, a mentor, or a friend who was walking through a particularly challenging season. When others let us in on these moments, we not only learn about their hearts, but we also learn a bit about how they see God through the way they talk to Him.

In John 17, we are given the honor of "listening in" on a conversation between Jesus and God the Father. These verses help us learn more about Jesus' heart and His view of the Father.

LEARNING FROM JESUS

Four beautiful and instructive themes rise from this prayer passage.

1. Jesus anchored His prayer in His relationship with God the Father, demonstrating the loving connection between the Father and the Son. He also demonstrated submission in carrying out the Father's plan.
2. Jesus showed great care for His followers and asked God to be with them.
3. Jesus highlighted the importance of God's mission and the mantle that would be passed on to Christians after His ascension.
4. Jesus mentioned the reward to come, both His glorification in the time ahead and the eternal reward promised to His followers.

John 17 is often referred to as the high priestly prayer. After Jesus' ascension, He was seated at the right hand of God to serve as a High Priest, one who lived on earth without sin — uniquely positioned to intercede for us (Heb. 4:14). In John 17, He interceded on behalf of believers present and future, foreshadowing the priestly role He carries out even now.

Take a moment to pray and thank Jesus for His heart toward us, praising Him as you consider what our salvation cost Him. What a Savior we have!

FOLLOWING JESUS

We can also apply the model Jesus provided in the way we approach our prayers, especially as we pray that God would win the hearts of those who do not yet know Him as Savior.

1. We come before God as dearly love children who can seek His help, bringing both cares and requests. We acknowledge God's wisdom is higher than ours, surrendering our ideas and asking Him to help us obey.
2. As we intercede for others, we grow in love for them. In the end, the greatest way to serve those around us is to consistently bring them before God, asking Him to lead their lives.
3. Our mission remains the same. As Jesus said in John 17:18, we are sent into the world to share God's truth and show the "surpassing worth of knowing Christ" (Phil. 3:8). We offer our weakness and pray He would strengthen us and enable our efforts as ministers of reconciliation.
4. Just as our mission remains the same, so does our reward. Believers are promised eternal life in perfect communion with God — no pain or sorrow, only joy everlasting in God's perfect love. Jesus points us to that truth to encourage our hearts in challenging times.

Because God saved us, we have eternal life and joy forever in His love. We can live each day with purpose and trust that His sovereign control guides every detail of our lives. We can tell others about how wonderful God is and how His saving grace makes all the difference. Pray, thanking God for His provision. Ask Him to help you fully trust and rely on Him and to give you the boldness to share about Him with others.
